Among the arrivals in Stony Saturday were: Bill Gabel & Jac Enders, Okotoks; Harvey & Cecil Umbach, Calgary; John P Miller, Lloydminster; Phil Alt, Edmonton; Mr & Mrs Gronbek, Munger; Mr and Mrs Gus Munroe, Red Deer.

At the meeting Friday last of the Tuxies Square officers for the ensuing term were elected as follows: Precator, L Oatway; Deputy, C Anderson; Scriptor, G Willie; Compiler, G Clarke.

While Mr J Strassburger was proceeding home Thursday last with his covered truck and while crossing the intersection at Gilbert's corner the radius rod broke, bending the front axle and allowing the front wheels to collapse. Fortunately, Mr Strassburger is a very careful driver, and was proceeding with due caution, consequently he escaped with slight injury. The left front wheel was demolished. Summerfield & Moyer made the repairs.

The 8-reel picture "Martin Luther," was shown in Stony Monday night. Two runs of the picture were given, at 7 and 9, and the hall was crowded to the doors each time. Those who attended were impressed both by the historical and religious aspect of the picture. Almost every incident is said to have been photographed on historic grounds. Nine-tenths of the scenes were made in Germany at the very places where the incidents occurred.

While leaving Edmonton Saturday morning in his motor coach with a party of friends, after attending the Stewart banquet, Mr E H Pidgeon was run into by a taxi as they were entering Jasper avenue from a side street. The argument which ensued was settled by two policemen whom Mr Pidgeon summoned. These decided the Jehu was in the wrong. The Duffield car received a bad dent in its left fender.

Fifty years ago the first consignment of wheat was shipped from Western Canada. This shipment of 857 bushels of Red Fife wheat, the entire exportable surplus of the Canadian West at that time, left Winnipeg on October 12, 1876, consigned to L. C. Steele, a grain merchant of Toronto. It was sold for 85 cents per bushel by Higgins & Young of Winnipeg, whose bill had announced them to be "importers of Boots, Shoes, Groceries and Glassware." The wheat was sent by the Red River boat to Duluth from which point it was shipped by railroad to Toronto, at which it was reloaded for Western Canada until the early eighties.

In 1926—just 50 years later—Canada is the largest wheat exporting country in the world. The crop of the Dominion this year totals nearly 400,000,000 bushels, ninety per cent of which was grown in Western Canada; and that same part of the country now produces hundreds of millions of bushels of oats, barley, rye, flax and an abundance of other field crops and farm products. The wheat crop of the Canadian West is now a dominant factor in the world's wheat market, and the Canadian Wheat Pool, with its membership of about 130,000 actual farmers in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, controlling approximately 70 per cent of the total wheat acreage in Canada, is the largest farmers' co-operative organization in the world. The pool has selling agents in 51 ports of the world.

The anniversary of this historical event was celebrated by a banquet given by the Winnipeg Board of Trade at the Royal Alexandra Hotel, Winnipeg. Two of the men who handled the first shipment were among the speakers. In 1876, the year in which this shipment took place, 14,769 acres were planted to wheat, whereas this year the wheat acreage in Western Canada was 21,764,735 acres.

Can Keep Honey Indefinitely

Does Not Mould or Spoil Under Proper Conditions

Honey, like other highly concentrated sugar solutions, will keep well for a long time with proper care, as it does not readily mould, ferment or spoil. It will, however, absorb moisture, and if exposed to a moist atmosphere, may become diluted to the point where fermentation occurs. It should be kept in a dry, warm, dry place, writes A. H. W. Birch, apiarist at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Temperature is not so important in the storing of extracted honey. Where large quantities are stored it is frequently necessary, owing to the enormous weight to use the cellar, which, though it may be cool, must not be damp. The containers of extracted honey ought always to be tightly closed to exclude moisture and incidentally ants, should they gain access to the storeroom. Well ripened honey will keep for years if stored where it will not attract moisture.

Where comb-honey is kept in quantity, there should be a free circulation of air. With this in view the storeroom is frequently located on the sunny side of the house or it is placed in the attic near the roof. Windows must be opened only on dry weather.

B.C. Potatoes Went in Mexico
British Columbia's reputation as a potato grower is again won in an order that has come from Mexico for a hundred carloads, according to Captain G. E. Bates, secretary of the British Columbia Potato Growers' Association. Unfortunately, the order had to be turned down owing to its being impossible to supply the specific type of potato required.

Canadian Potato Crop
According to the Dominion Government forecast at September 25th, the Canadian potato crop will amount to 42,472,000 cwt. as compared with 42,379,000 cwt. in 1925. The yield of turnips is estimated at 23,184,000 cwt.; alfalfa at 2,341,800 tons; fodder corn at 4,429,000 tons and sugar beets at 451,000 tons.

Australia plans to spend $100,000 on a road improvement program.

Sheep And Swine Show

Great Interest is Taken at Annual Show Held at Saskatoon

The annual sheep and swine show held in Saskatoon opened with in the neighborhood of 700 head of stock of all ages, about 400 of which were sheep. The majority of the classes were well filled in the major breeds of both sheep and hogs in both market and breeding lots.

John Wilson of Innisfail, Alta., who judged the sheep, expressed it as his opinion of the quality of the entries that he had never seen the equal of it in western Canada, and that most of the top in the various classes were exceptionally fine. Placings in the Shropshire and Oxford breeds was often close. Harry Follett, of Duval, Sask., and W. S. Benson, of the University of Saskatchewan judged the hogs. Competition in the Yorkshire breeding classes and in the market classes was keen and drew the majority of the fair crowd of spectators who followed the placings closely.

Four prominent breeders were present—S. A. Early, Saskatoon; Wm. Darnborough, Lacombe, Sask.; A. C. Stewart, Abbotsford, B.C., and J. D. Whithead, Nutana, Sask. The last named breeder was successful in winning the cup which he had offered for the best Saskatchewan bred Shropshire sheep at the show on the eve of the 24th, a beautiful ewe with a fine, deep body and lots of breed-type. Other winners by the same breeder were first for pen of three ram lambs, first for best ram and ram lamb, first for flock consisting of ram, two ewes and two ewe lambs, besides first for shearing ram, first for ram lamb, first for ewe, first for shearing ewe and second for ewe lamb.

Good Business For Canada

Tourists Spend Nearly $200,000,000 in Dominion Last Year

Tourists from the United States spent $190,000,000 in Canada last year. J. M. Wardle, chief engineer of the Canadian National Parks, told the Good Roads Association at Edmonton, the other day. The sum is more than five times the value of the output of all the gold mines of the country for the year, and is 67 per cent greater than the output of all our metal mines. As the tourist business is good business, since it is all done on a cash basis, and the profits are immediate and beyond question, it would be the part of wisdom for Canada to do what she can to expand it. This can be done in two ways: by inducing more tourists to come and by inducing those who come to remain longer. Vancouver Province.

"King of Swat" Visits Canada

Babe Ruth, idol of the baseball world and whose brilliant exhibition at the place during the recent world's series only added to his laurels, delighted thousands of his fans when he played in an exhibition game in Montreal recently. Ruth went into action directly from the world's series, with two all-star semi-professional teams with Urban Shocker, Yankee pitcher on the mound.

The fans were not disappointed for Babe ran the gamut of baseball and showed them everything they expected to see, with the addition of other

Canadian Farmer Has Relatively Happy Position Compared With Those In Other Zones

Community Breeding Of The Saddle Horse

Farmers Receiving Attractive Prices For Half-Bred Foals

In organizing the Remount, Horse Breeding Station in Frontenac county, Ontario, in 1922, the Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa did a good service not only for the farmers of the district but also for those who wish to buy saddle horses. The district served by the station has produced three crops of half-bred foals from the thoroughbred stallions placed within it by the Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Ontario Racing Association. At the recent horse show at the station, held near Kingston, about forty head of young stock were exhibited. Although the mares that produced these were of general purpose type and of varied breeding, the young stock were strikingly uniform, showing pronounced thoroughbred characteristics and possessed of sufficient weight to make first rate cavalry or saddle horses. The show brought out thirteen specimens of the hundred half-bred foals produced in the district this year, besides good classes of yearling, two-year old, and three-year old stock. The farmers of the district are already receiving attractive prices for their half-bred colts and it will take but a few years to bring about a recognition of the district as a source of promising saddle horses. The headquarters of the station is the fourteen hundred acre farm of Major Palmer Wright, near Chaffoy's Locks, who is himself a breeder of considerable extent. The past two years the stallion "Amer," presented to the Dominion Government by King George, was one of the horses that stood in this neighborhood and is having his mark in an admirable way on the young stock of the district.

Ship Supplies to Britain

Shipments of Canadian supplies to European ports will exceed by fifty per cent those of last year, according to J. R. Sutherland, general freight agent for the Canadian Pacific Express. The increase is largely accounted for by the installation of refrigerator services on certain Atlantic steamships.

Will Written on Egg Shell

A will written on an eggshell was submitted recently in an English probate court. The egg had been blown and the will was written on the empty shell with an indelible pencil. It was the testament of a Manchester ship canal pilot.

Many people have the idea that farming in the so-called north temperate zone such as is characteristic of the northern United States and Canada, is attended by climatic difficulties and embarrassments which are unknown in the sub-tropical areas of the earth. The Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa points out, however, that the Canadian farmer is in a relatively happy position. His growing season is fairly well defined. His crops are of a type that are sufficiently resistant to the changes of temperature and winds and, to a less extent, moisture, as to leave him with comparatively few worries during the bulk of the growing season. Moreover, summer weather in Canada is particularly favorable to plant growth on account of the unusually long days of clear sunshine, with periodic showers.

It must not be imagined that more southern districts do not offer definite problems as to climate. In the more tropical belts, favored by the sun in many ways as to climate, man fights against frosts in California; has to protect his crops by walls or hedges against high winds as in the Azores, in Malta and in southern France; must manufacture artificial ice in Palestine; retards the ripening of his fruit under the spring sun by screening it, as in Italy where it is customary to cover the lemons with screens of cloth or gauze, so that they may not ripen until the summer demand is at its height in England and America; is forced to develop huge water storage schemes as in Egypt and Mesopotamia; to fight tropical vegetation and fevers, and overcome inefficient labor methods as in the equatorial regions, and so on.

Thus it will be seen that every latitude has its own problems in agriculture, and everything being considered, Canada, with its wholesome summer sunshine, periodic showers, and its relative freedom from cyclonic disturbances, is doubtfully blessed by providence and will become increasingly desirable as a land for agricultural development due to the consistency of her crops, the relatively close problems of cultivation, the increasing land values and the substantial returns.

Tar Sand Paving Material

Bituminous Sand Deposits in Northern Alberta Attract Much Attention

The Fort McMurray bituminous sand deposits—the raw material for tar sand paving—continue to attract favorable attention and comment as the source of an important new industry. E. G. Ellis, engineer of the Dominion Mines Branch, speaks of the industry as being destined to greatness in the future while analysts' reports from laboratories in the United States and England concur in speaking well of the samples received by them.

Dairy Industry Flourishes

Production of dairy products in Canada is now at the $800,000,000 level, with exports amounting to $57,000,000 annually. A report issued by Dr. J. S. Ruddle, Federal Dairy Commissioner, shows that the eastern half of Canada produces 98 per cent of the cheese and 71 per cent of the butter; although this inequality between east and west is gradually being shaken down.

Big Wool Clip

The Canadian wool crop for 1925 at 11,600,000 pounds, or an increase of 1,400,000 pounds over 1924. British domestic wool has been up to standard and westerns possibly the keener takers. Nearly four million pounds of this year's clip will likely be handled by the co-operative organization of wool growers.

When the hilarious guests, some of them frankly boisterous, began to reassemble into their original groupings and say their good nights, Joanna's gorgeous gown was crushed, her shimmering hair fluffed, and her face sparkling. The night had been like wine to her, and she was vital with the stimulus of it. Dormineer wanted to linger at the party, but she mocked at him. When she saw that his face glowed she was profitably penitent and gave him her hand to kiss. To Kennilworth she was more serious. She looked up at him rather shyly.

"You know," he said, "I am taking a very malicious memory with me!"

"Be good to it," was all the comfort she would give him.

Yvonne was confessedly weary. "I always shudder at the sight of the debris after a night like this," she informed Joanna, who had just now had gone merrily on his way. "Shall we go up stairs to my room. We can talk it all over, for a while. A party must be talked about before one goes to bed, you know."

Italian Women Are Barred From Office

Not Eligible for Municipal Positions in New Ruling

By a decision made in the Ministry of Internal Affairs, Italian women have been definitely cut off from all participation in the political life of the nation.

It now rules, in fact, that women are not eligible for the post of Podesta. The Podestas are the Italian equivalent of Mayors, except that they are appointed by the National Government instead of being elected by popular suffrage.

The women's suffrage movement has undergone strange vicissitudes under Mussolini's Government in Italy. First he granted the women the right to vote in municipal elections which was generally interpreted as the first step toward granting them suffrage in political elections. No sooner had this been enacted than the election of the system, by Podesta, suppressing municipal elections, deprived the women of their newly acquired right to vote.

The recent ruling by the Ministry of Internal Affairs rob them also of the right of becoming heads of municipalities which they had won when they were granted the municipal suffrage.

Joanna gave him more directions through her speaking tube. He stopped just beyond a corner and opened the cabinet door.

"It is the fourth house from here on this side," Joanna explained. "You will recognize it by the sign at the side of the door. It reads 'John Wilmore, architect, 1007 the Parkway'."

CHAPTER XIX.

A Visit to John's Quarters

From her silken cushions in the cabriolet Joanna waited impatiently until her chauffeur, after a brief pause at the door of the house to which she had come, returned with a man.

"The woman came," she says Mr. Wilmore is not at home.

"Then you may wait for me here."

A half score of sturdy arches already had gathered about the smartly shining cabriolet. The man who had carried from its daily fittings to the satin sheen of its expensive hood. Such an imposing car seldom invaded that neighborhood and its placid company of ghosts of the days when the streets of home and not more sleeping quarters.

The slim, elegant figure that few patrons of a silk counter would have recognized, smiled at the arches, pushed through them, and entered, dashing into the depths of the house where John had found for himself a large sleeping room and another, a larger one, with the precious north light, which he could turn into his workroom.

During the days John served at his apprenticeship with the firm of architects who provided him his necessary training. His talents were recognized. A bright future was predicted for him. But, so far, John's return had been indeed meagre—as is the usual condition of the student of a difficult profession. If, at times, Foreman, Van Brent & Craig were dubious of their young John Wilmore, it was because he was inclined to be a dreamer. That is, they, his tutors and employers, were of the mind that was much too eager to skip such fundamentals as the proper angle of a drain pipe and contemplate monumental harmonies.

Perhaps John would have agreed with the wisest heads that guided him through his student possibilities. Perhaps that was why he confined his dreaming, as far as possible, to his one large room, and worked there, over his drawing board, with his blue gyms and traces—by the north light in the early mornings, and the incandescent light through the evenings that had not been Joanna's.

The "old woman" who faced the girl with the swagger stick inside the draft hallway, might have been, were she not so frankly frowzy, a replica of Mrs. Adams. She once had been on the stage. The good gales of her yonder memories were ever at the point of lifting. Between her and "John's" barriers had broken down forever when Joanna, who on more than one occasion sat through an evening with John in his workroom, trying as best she could to fathom the things he talked about, made her come in and recount the triumph of old with its curtain calls and its jealousies and marvellous romances. Joanna admitted to John, at that time, that she would much rather hear his landlady's monologue than listen to him rave about garages and such misty things.

The landlady was convincingly dramatic when she identified "John's girl" in the radiant vision which smiled so sweetly at her. There was, even, thrilling drama in her elaborate service to the code that "saw" no questions and gets no snubbing. "She married John from smart little hat to smart, sapphire-buttoned shoes, and reached her own conclusions over the swagger stick, but she said, only: "Of course you can, Miss. You can go right in, Mr. John's been gone since breakfast. He isn't been doing much work of late, it seems, because he's seemed kind of restless like."

For some mysterious reason the landlady's gaze rested on the sapphire slipper buckles, as if the depths of them contained the explanation of her lodger's gaudy idleness.

Little Helps For This Week

He that loveth not knoweth not God, for God is love.—John I. 8.

Yet while I love, say God the most, I deem

That I can never love you over-much;

Yes, as I apprehend it, love is such I cannot love you if I love not Him, I cannot love Him if I love not you.—Christina G. Rossetti.

Love to the Lord cannot possibly exist apart from neighborly love. For the Lord's love is love to the whole human race, which He desires to save eternally, and to adorn entirely to Himself, so as for none of them to perish. Wherefore, whoever has love to the Lord has the Lord's love, and cannot help loving his neighbors.

An Oil that is Famous.—Though Canada was not the birthplace of Dr. Thomas' Eucaly Oil, it is the home of that famous compound. From here its good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia, and New Zealand. That is far afield enough to attest its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and in demand.

A slot machine that distinguishes coins by their size and weight has been invented, making it impossible to substitute a franc for a quarter or a piece of lead for a coin.

Have you heard about Peps? It's a scientific preparation put up in handy form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds, chest and throat troubles. Peps contains certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On the tongue, it soothes the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the lungs. While no liquid or solid can get to the lungs and air passages, these Peps fumes get there direct, and healing commences.

Throat Trouble

Throat Trouble

Toronto, Ont.—"For about eight years I was subject to laryngitis, my throat would get very sore and I would lose my voice. I would have it up of this kind a couple of times a year, especially in the winter when the weather was cold and disagreeable. It would be a couple of months each time before I would fully recover from these spells and get my voice back. I doctored and took medicine with little relief until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it has so completely relieved me of all trouble that I scarcely ever have a sore throat or suffer in any way from my former trouble. I am now Mrs. A. McDonald, 28 McMurich St. Golden Medical Discovery is put up in Dr. Pierce's Little Blue Pills, in a burg, Ont. and sold by all druggists in both tablets and liquid. CARRIED WIFE TO BED

Suffered So She Could Not Walk. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Minesing, Ontario.—"I am a practical nurse and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to suffering women. For three months I was almost helpless. I could not sit at the table long enough to drink a cup of tea. Many a time my husband carried me to bed. I would be so weak. Then he read in the paper of a woman suffering as I did who got better after taking the Vegetable Compound, so we went and got it for me. When I had taken three bottles I was just like a new woman and have had splendid health ever since. When I feel any bearing-down pain I always take it; sometimes a half bottle or whatever I need. It is my only medicine and I have many more about it. Any one wanting to know more about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will gladly write to her. I do all I can to recommend it for I feel I owe my life and strength to it."—Mrs. N. B. BOWEN, R. R. 1, Minesing, Ontario.

"Do you feel broken-down, nervous, and weak sometimes? Do you have this horrid feeling of fear which sometimes comes to women when they are not well? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and I have taken regularly and persistently will relieve this condition."

Nova Scotia Noted For Its Hunting Facilities

Reports of excellent big game hunting in Nova Scotia this sesson have been received at the tourist department of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Montreal. Hunters have returned with tales of super-moose, seemingly endowed with more than usual cunning, thus adding to the interest in this sport. A large section of the interior is a mass of beautiful lakes, woods and streams where moose are plentiful despite the fact that about 1,200 bulls are killed by hunters each year between October 1st and November 15th, the open season. Cow moose and young calves are protected.
Water approaches to the hunting grounds are but a short motor-ride from Digby and Antigonish (lyons) on the Dominion Atlantic Railway.
Many hunters penetrate the wilderness by canoe from south Millford at the head of the Liverpool chain of lakes, or by motor truck which transports hunters, guides, outfit and canoe to Kegonsakookoo and other haunts of the moose. Some of the best guides are the Micmac Indians, there being also plenty of efficient white guides at Del Thomas's South Millford Camp and Kegonsakookoo.

But one bull moose may be bagged each season by a hunter. The majority of moose are killed each year in 13 of the 18 counties. Moose and caribou are plentiful on Cape Breton Island but the hunting of these animals at the present time is prohibited on the island. Bear and wildcat, for which there is no closed season, roam the woods of Nova Scotia. Ruffed grouse, woodcock, snipe, wild geese and many other varieties of small game are plentiful and afford the hunter every opportunity of an excellent hunting holiday. The provinces too is a mecca for the angler. The many streams and lakes abound with salmon and trout. On the coast tuna, cod, haddock, pollock and flounder fishing is extensively indulged in.
